Ghulam Sarwar is the Director of the Muslim Education Trust. He has an Honours degree in Commerce and a Masters degree in Management from the University of Dhaka, Bangladesh. For three years, he taught Business Management in the City College, Chittagong, Bangladesh and since the early sixties has been actively involved in Islamic Da'wah (teaching of Islam). His written works include: Islam for Younger People, The Children's Book of Salah, British Muslims and Schools, Sex Education -- The Muslim Perspective, Syllabus and Guidelines for Islamic Teaching, Muslims and Education in the UK and Books on Islam in English.

This book is fantastic! I grew up reading this book and it is an amazing child-friendly way of learning about Islam. It puts moralistic ways of behaving within anecdotal stories, in a way that a child can really understand. I love it so much that almost 15 years on from when I started reading this book, I am coming back and purchasing it for my nieces. Recommend this book for anyone who wants a simple, light-hearted way of teaching children about the basics of Islam and morals.

it was great
