Customer Reviews

This book is wonderfully colorful and fascinating, and my fifth graders love it. We use all of the statistics and facts for real-world math. There is everything from decimals to place value covered, but the kids don't mind because it's INTERESTING! This book answers the question, "why do we need to learn math?" Because math is EVERYWHERE and this book proves it. This is also a great resource for learning about technology, geography, history, science, nature...you name it. There is also a great section on government, and with the upcoming elections we will be using this in class to learn about that, as well. Everything is explained in kid-friendly terms. I ordered eight books for my class to share, and will be exchanging two because the binding is loose and pages were coming out the first day. However, makes returns easy so I'm not fussed about it.

My 9-year-old son has been disappointed that he couldn't find anything newer than 2002 in his school library or at the public library. After talking about it for weeks, I finally ordered the 2016 version. He does not put it down! He's been reading it cover-to-cover. He's curious about everything, so this book is great for him. A couple of the pages did start to easily slip out, though.

My autistic 7 year old loves these types of books and was delighted when he received this last week, yet every time he has picked it up to read one or more pages have fallen out. I thought it may be just him being heavy handed, but when I opened the book to see a double spread page, the same happened to me. Naturally he was distraught that his perfect book that he takes everywhere is falling apart although it is not yet a week old

My kids LOVE this Almanac! I have to admit, I wasn't expecting it to be full of so much useful and educational information (sorry, busy mom of 3 didn't read into the contents), but my kids are learning a lot of facts about the world. This book is engaging and intriguing to my kids. They love to share what they learned.

I've bought several of these as gifts for kids and they are a hit. Kids and adults love them, they are a go to reference book.

Full of great information for kids. My daughter keeps this by her bed and reads it almost every day. It's interesting and loaded with quick facts. A good start to getting kids interested in all manner of things.

Not much new compared to the previous versions of the Almanac for Kids, but our daughter loves these books.

We enjoy it a lot 1/2 hr with my son each day. You can learn lot from it!
