Stink: The Incredible Shrinking Kid

Synopsis

In honor of Judy Moody's younger "brother," the creators of the award-winning series have put themselves in a very Stink-y mood (Ages 5-8). Shrink, shrank, shrunk! Every morning, Judy Moody measures Stink and it's always the same: three feet, eight inches tall. Stink feels like even the class newt is growing faster than he is. Then, one day, the ruler reads -- can it be? -- three feet, seven and three quarters inches! Is Stink shrinking? He tries everything to look like he's growing, but wearing up-and-down stripes and spiking his hair aren't fooling anyone into thinking he's taller. If only he could ask James Madison -- Stink's hero, and the shortest person ever to serve as President of the United States. In Stink's first solo adventure, his special style comes through loud and strong -- enhanced by a series of comic strips, drawn by Stink himself, which are sprinkled throughout the book. From "The Adventures of Stink in SHRINK MONSTER" to "The Adventures of Stink in NEWT IN SHINING ARMOR," these very funny, homespun sagas reflect the familiar voice of a kid who pictures himself with super powers to deal with the travails of everyday life -- including the occasional teasing of a bossy big sister!

Gr. 2--4. The pesky little brother in McDonald's popular Judy Moody series gets his own book and tells his own story here. Little is the word for James ("Stink") Moody; he's short, the shortest kid in his second-grade class. Is he shrinking? Judy is his bossy older sister, but he learns to handle her. For Presidents' Day, Stink's hero is not big tall Lincoln but another James, James Madison, the shortest president ever. The narrative is fun and laced with puns--from Mt. Trashmore to "newt in shining armor," and it's peppered with black-and-white illustrations, including comics ("The Adventures of Stink") reflecting Stink's triumphant fantasies. Stink sometimes seems younger than his years, so try this as a read-aloud for preschoolers or kindergarteners fed up with big, bossy types telling them what to do. "I hope McDonald writes many more adventures for Stink. He's a delightful character." - Renee Kirchner -- KidsReads.com --This text refers to the Library Binding edition.

I haven't read these, but my 4th graders really like them. That's why I bought the set.

My 6 year old loved these books. He reads above grade level and read three in 4 days.

My 6yo son loves these books. He gets completely absorbed in reading them, not hearing anything around them until he's finished. Big hit!

"It is really funny! It is kind of weird! I like all the books. The chapters have really good names." ---
From a 6 year old

Great

This series went over very well with my 7 year old. He especially loves the comic pictures.

My son loved this book

kids love it
